

Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) Appeal

Federal regulations require that institutions of higher education monitor the academic progress of each applicant for federal financial assistance and that the institution certify that the applicant is making satisfactory academic progress toward earning his/her degree. This determination of progress must be made at the end of each payment term and prior to any financial aid being disbursed to the student. If you are required to submit a Satisfactory Academic Progress appeal it means that you did not meet one or all of the standards according to Rowan College at Burlington County's Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy.

To be completed by the student.

If a student loses his/her financial aid eligibility and there are extenuating circumstances that have affected the student's performance, the student should file an Appeal to explain the circumstances.

Examples of extenuating circumstances include:

- Health-related problems (severe injury or serious illness),
- Death of a family member, or
- Unanticipated work-related or family-related changes.

NOTE: Poor study habits, an overload of coursework, or lack of preparedness do not qualify as extenuating circumstances. However, if the student has a disastrous term for these reasons and it results in a low or zero completion rate an appeal will be considered. Also, the appeal should not be based upon your need for the assistance OR your lack of knowledge that your assistance was in jeopardy.

SAP APPEAL SUBMISSION DEADLINES:
Fall - November 1 | Spring - April 1 | Summer - July 1

Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) Appeal (con't)

NOTE: The RCBC Financial Aid Satisfactory Academic Progress Appeal Committee will review your enrollment record including transfer, developmental, repeated and withdrawn credits and incomplete work in an effort to evaluate your potential for completing your program of study. The student must be able to achieve the minimum requirements for Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) at the end of the probation period or have demonstrated significant improvement in their coursework. If the appeal committee determines that achieving minimum requirements for SAP or demonstrated improvement is unlikely or not possible, the student's appeal will be denied. The appeal committee will notify you of its decision by mail to the address noted on the student's record.

Please indicate why you need to appeal for Financial Aid. You may review your academic history and SAP status in your Web Advisor account. (Check appropriate box)
